

Cell Phones

Many people have cell phones. People can make calls and listen to music anywhere. They can search for some information and buy many different things on the internet, so it is a very convenient tool in our life.

